

Radharani.com

WoW?!!

This is the usual response we get from people who visit and remember how Jihva Mandir used to be a couple years back. Most find it hard to believe that a public-NON-fenced area can be kept so beautifully.

Most institutions do huge renovations and no maintenance, but our main focus is actually the ongoing maintenance with restoration being a natural by product. Anyone can visit Jihvna Mandir at any time of day and see that it is perfectly clean and groomed despite the millions of people visiting, and there are no fences or gates to keep people out.

The simple restoration at Jihva Mandir is near completion. We will take a selection of photos soon.

Another wonderful area with great potential is Manasa Pavana Ghat. We hope to soon be able to sponsor a garden in this area.

Our next real focus: The whole Parikrama Path around Radha Kunda!

Please spread the word and pray (yes actually pray!) that we will very soon be successful with the plan to clean the whole Parikrama Path around Radha Kunda. We only need 45 more regular monthly sponsors for this task. We firmly believe that it can and will be done since there are no bottomless pocket middle men. We are not concerned with fancy or opulent, just clean!

If we can have 20 regular sponsors cleaning and beautifying, why not 45 more!

Happy Baba cleaning at Lalita Kunda

We clean!

Yuck!

Swept and washed!

Samadhis at Lalita Kunda

If I sell enough Bananas, I'll make a mess! I'm so happy!

I love that guy!

Mee Mee Mee!

Ugh, I'm stuffed! Where are our cleaning slaves!

Clean!

Manasa Pavana Area

Manasapava Area

Work on going at Jihva Mandir

Work on going at Jihva Mandir

Let's Clean Radha Kunda!

Radha Kund